Election of "Tax Advisor of the Year": Two TPA Partners are voted the Best of the Best

Vienna – For the sixth time in a row "Die Presse" and the ifa AG organised the election of "Tax Adviser of the Year". The renowned industry prize was awarded on June 4th, 2020 in the Viennese Sofiensaelen, while respecting the official regulations for such events. It was a special evening for the tax advisory and audit services company, TPA, as two Partners, Gunther Lang and Klaus Scheder, won the abacus in their category.

The real estate expert with many years of experience, Gunther Lang, came top in the "Real Estate and Construction Industry" category. This is a category which has already been won by TPA several times in the past. Gunther Lang had this to say: "I am particularly pleased that TPA was once again able to succeed here. The award is for me both confirmation and motivation to continue pursuing the current path and doing our absolute best for the service of our clients".

In the "Regional Allrounder" the Kaerntner Tax Advisor and TPA Partner, Klaus Scheder, dominated. "We meet our clients on an eye-to-eye level, and we commit ourselves totally to them on a daily basis. The fact that they have voted us as Tax Adviser of the Year is a wonderful compliment".

What was special about this award is that only companies and entrepreneurs were able put forward the Tax Adviser of their choice for the nomination. After the votes were submitted, those with the most were subjected to a critical evaluation by a highly qualified jury. From more than 12,000 nominations the best of the best in the industry were chosen in seven subject categories.
